Mr. Paul L. Roy Gettysburg Times

Dear Mr. Roy:

Please accept the sincere thanks of members of The Exchange Club for a very interesting and educational visit we had at The Gettysburg Times plant Tuesday eve. After visiting with you and and having the functions of the various departments explained to us, I am sure we all appreciate more fully the hard work and planning that are a part of the production of a daily newspaper. Please convey our special thanks to Mr. Henry Roth, Mr. William Hemler and Mr. John Korver, for so ably explaining the intricate details of the various machines, and of course our sincere thanks to you our host.

She had been educated in private for the next meeting, on Wednes- schools and spent her leisure time in the enjoyment of art, music and the study of languages. After Bellevue, where she served as night superintendent in 1887, she offered her services as a nurse in a yellow fever epidemic in Jacksonville, Fla., and in the Johnstown Flood, in 1889. In 1890 Miss Dock was assistant superintendent of nurses at John Hopkins Hospital where she was also the first instructor in the new school which was setting new standards for nursing education. In 1955, the chemistry laboratory there was > named in her honor. Later, for a brief perid, Miss Dock was principal of the Illinois Training School for Nurses in Chicago. Had she stayed there she probably would have missed one of the most interesting and selfsatisfying experiences of her career, the experience of working with and sharing the problems of the needy at the Henry Street Settlement in New York's East Side.

"Mildly Socialistic"

Noted for her unconventional activities, Miss Dock was termed "mildly socialistic, ardently pacifist and a militant suffragist," Miss Roberts wrote, and it was during her work at the settlement, where she even studied languages in order to get closer to her cases, that she recognized the significance of the approaching "world public health movement which would emphasize prevention and that a highly taught type of nurse would be needed rather than the bedside nurse.

Her interest in the development of nursing through organization became almost an obsession as she became the first secretary of the International Council of Nurses, 1899-1922, and a contributor to the first issue of the American Journal of Nursing and editor of its foreign department in 1900. So pacifist was she that she would permit no mention of World War I in her department of the magazine. Her article, "What We May Expect Of The to stress the importance of state registration of nurses through which Miss Dock hoped to develop prestige and improve the financial status of her professional associates. Miss Dock also wrote of this in her contributions to the British Journal of Nursing.

Wrote Textbook

Enthusiastically promoting any endeavor in which she wholeheartedly believed. Miss Dock took advantage of her talent in writing to further the cause of her beloved profession by writing a "Materia Medica For Nurses," which is among the first of textbooks for nurses: "Hygiene And Morality," published in 1910, which was considered in advance of the times, and dealt with venereal diseases; and "Short Papers On Nursing Subjects."

In 1912, she was co-author with Adelaide M. Nutting, in the writing of "A History Of Nursing," Volume I-IV; and with Isabel M. Stewart, on the writing of "A Short History Nursing," in 1920; and with others, on the "History Of Red Cross Nursing," in 1922.

An ardent supporter of suffrage, Miss Dock, by appearing at the polls and employing other techniques to assert her beliefs, was committed to fail at three different times, and has said of these experiences that she received the "greatest satisfaction from them." She did all that she could do for that cause.

No Church Affiliation

Although Miss Dock was reared in a church-going family, she has no affiliation with any church or any creed herself, but Miss Roberts says of her, "she feels deeply toward the Man of Galilee." "She firmly believes that the world would be a better place if there were less devotion to an unseen power and more effort to follow the example and teachings of Jesus. In her devotion to others and in her efforts to make conditions better, she has shown her adherence to the Christian ethic." In 1947 Miss Dock appeared before the Congress of the International Council of Nurses where she was presented for the Council, the

After leading all the way with leads zooming to as much as 15 points, the Gettysburg College dribblers were forced to hold off a late rally by Dickinson to gain a 76-70 victory at Carlisle Wednesday evening to even the Bullets' record at 9-9. The loss was the 14th in 15 games for the Red Devils.

Bob Davies' outfit got off to a fast start and were on top 31-19 with five minutes remaining in the first half. Dickinson cut the margin to 35-29 at half tme.

The Bullets led 47-42 after five minutes of the second half and then secured their biggest margin at 61-46 midway during the half.

Red Devils Spurt

Dickinson began to come on at that point. With four minutes remaining the Bullets held a 68-61 advantage. Goals by Hockenbury and Al Teti gave the Bullets a 72-65 edge with 1:30 remaining. Don Leggett and Jim Conor tightened the score at 72-69 with a minute | ning's contests. left. Bobby Walsack then converted a pair of fouls and a free throw by Leggett made it 74-70 with but 15 seconds remaining. Just as the game ended Marty Miller connected for the Bullets.

Teti collected 12 goals in but 26 tries and wound up with 25 points to be high man. Bill Ward turned in his best game, landed 10 tallies and grabbed 15 rebounds during the last half. Hockenbury was credited with 17 rebounds and five assists. Leggett and Ray Weaver led Dickinson with 23 and 17.

NIAGARA TURNS

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

The trials and tribulations of postseason engagements are beginning to show in college basketball with some coaches putting possible tournament tactics to competitive tests.

Taps Gallagher of Niagara, for instance, deployed his NIT-bound Eagles in a zone defense in the second half while defeating Syracuse 86-80 last night. It was the first time in 20 years of coaching that Gallagher had resorted to the

And Fred Schaus, in his second year as coach and readying West Virginia for its title defense in the Southern Conference tournament next week, sent the Mountaineers into a full-court press right off the bat for the first time this season in a 97-88 decision over William & Mary.

Handley Was Big Gun

Niagara had a four-point lead at the half, but Syracuse, which had beaten the Eagles earlier, gained an 80 - all deadlock with 1:13 left in the game. Then Alex Ellis, one of Niagara's sophomore stars, tapped in a rebound and the stalling Eagles eased home. Tommy Hemans, Niagara's steadying senior, was high with 23 points-20 in the second half. Hot Rod Hundley (who else?)

was the big gun for West Virginia. He packed in 31 points as the Mountaineers ended their regular Southern schedule in a firstplace tie with George Washington. The champion and NCAA entry, however, will be decided in the three-day tourney opening a week from today at Richmond.

Other strange things happened last night too. Princeton and Yale struggled through five overtime periods, one short of the major college record, before the Tigers won 79-77 to retain second place in the Ivy League. The first four

MISS BUSHEY IN PLAY CONTEST SUNDAY NIGHT

Miss Jeanne Bushey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Bushey, R. 2, will be cast in the freshman presentation of John Synge's tragedy "Riders To The Sea," for the annual one-act play contest at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Under the direction of Miss Mary Ann Engel, Alexandria, Va., the dramatic piece centers on the sorrow of an Irish peasant woman who loses two sons through drowning.

Seniors will present Holland Hudson's pantomime, "The Shepherd In The Distance," which portrays the tale of a princess who falls in love with a handsome shepherd despite the watchfulness of her guardian, the Wazir. Miss Constance Ehrsam, Alexandria, Va., who directed her class in the prize-winning dramatization of Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo," in 1954, again directs her class thespians.

Sophomores, directed by Miss Carol Lewis, Washington, D. C., will present Alice Gerstenberg's melodrama, "Overtones," in which the ulterior motives of two shallow women are revealed by the voices of their consciences or "overtones."

Miss Kathleen O'Brien, Rochester, N. Y., will direct the juniors in Christe, Norfolk, Va. their presentation of Alice Gerstenberg's satire, "The Pot Boiler," which reveals the comic situation of a play being written during its Emmitsburg rehearsal.

GORE MAY HEAD BROAD PROBE ONLOBBYING

WASHINGTON (A) - Sen. Gore or campaign financing.

Four Democratic and four Republican senators are to be named to the investigating committee, probably later in the day.

Advance word from Senate sources was that, in addition to Gore, the Democrats likely to be appointed are Senators Kennedy of Massachusetts, McClellan of Arkansas and either Mansfield of Montana or Anderson of New

Hit Some Snags

Republicans evidently were running into some snags in making up their slate. Efforts reportedly were being made to persuade Senators Bridges of New Hampshire, Bricker of Ohio and Thye of Minnesota to accept assign-

The appointments are to be made by Vice President Nixon, on the recommendations of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California.

Gore was going ahead with plans for a broad investigation by the Senate Elections subcommittee, of which he is chairman, when Senate leaders stepped in and said they favored setting up a special bipartisan committee to conduct the inquiry.

Started With Case Offer

Johnson and Knowland joined in sponsoring the move for an election-year investigatio of "attemps to influence improperly or illegally" the Senate or its members through campaign contributions, political activities, lobbying or any other practices.

Before the resolution was adopted by a 79-1 vote, it was broadened to cover any attempts to exert similar influence on candidates for the Senate "or any officer or employe of the executive branch" of the government.

Demands for a broad-scale investigation developed after Sen. Francis Case (R-SD), during the battle over the natural gas bill, said he had rejected a $2,500 campaign contribution because he thought it indicated on "abnormal interest" in his position on the legislation.

The only vote against creation of the committee was cast by Sen. Langer (R-ND). He said influence peddling is "old as the hills" and the Senate would do better to get on with passing an elections reform bill pending on its calendar since last June.

ISSUE FIRST SPRAY LETTERS

Spring officially is on the waythe first spray letters for the current year went out Wednesday from the office of Couny Agent Frank S. Zettle calling for the dormant spray on apple and peach.

Designed to kill aphid eggs, help control cankerworm, tent caterpillar and fruit tree leaf roller and reduce the number of overwintering scab spores, the dormant spray in apple may be applied "any time the temperature is above freezing." But if oil is to be used in the delayed dormant spray, Zettle said, "there should be three weeks between the two applications." Recommended for use per 100 gallons of dilute spraye are 11/2 quarts of liquid DN and one quart of miscible superior oil; two quarts of DN-289 or Elgetol-318 plus one quart of miscible superior oil, or 11/2 pounds of a 40 per cent DN powder plus the one quart of a miscible superior oil. For concentrate sprays the amount of oil should be kept at one quart, but the amount of liquid DN increased to three quarts, or if powder is used, three pounds, or if DN-289 or Elgetol-318 is used, three quarts.

To Control Scale, Mites

The dormant peach spray is designed to control San Jose, Terrapin and European lecanium scales and red mites and to control leaf curl where a late fall dormant spray was not applied.

To control scales and mites three gallons of a miscible superior oil or four gallons of a superior oil emulsion should be used per 100 gallons of diluate spray. For concentrate spray the miscible oil amount should be increased to 41/2 gallons and the oil emulsion amount to six gallons. To control scales, mites and leaf curl two pounds of copper sulphate plus three pounds of fresh spray lime, plus one of the oils, should be used per 100 gallons of dilute spray.

For concentrate sprays the copper should be increased to three pounds and the lime to 41/2 pounds. Where scales are not a problem, the oil sprays may be omitted and instead the amount of copper and lime increased to six pounds each for dilute sprays and eight pounds each for concentrate prays.

House last July won unanimous one-third of the employe's actual sile, called the Redstone, the Army Senate approval on Tuesday but remuneration is in tips these will is evolving a weapon powerful for approval of amendments.

Little difficulty was anticipated on this score, however, for Secretary of Labor and Industry Torquato described the bills as "substantially the same" as had passed the House despite the numerous amendments and re-amendments.

Torquato praised the proposed legislation, declaring that "Pennsylvania workers contracting occupational diseases and having workmen's compensation claims will benefit greatly."

The two measures for the first time would make the benefits payable for life in the event of total disability

May Go 350 Weeks

Partial disability payments would leap from $23 a week to a maximum $27.50 and run for as long as 350 weeks. Employes also would be required to supply medical care for six months instead of 120 days as at present.

The State Workmen's Compensation Board also would be allowed to order further medical and hospital care if it meant restoring the injured person's ability to make a living for himself.

Torquato noted that the new legislation would make "two very important changes in the law." "In the first place," he said, "the

The Associated Press Anyone ever move into a new house and find that all furnishings fit nooks and crannies?

Hardly ever it seems, judging from reader queries on problems encountered in trying to arrange furniture in the new dream house. One couple looked for a house for three months, found the ideal one and in their exuberance forgot to measure the appliance area in the kitchen. Now the almostnew refrigerator, washing machine and dishwasher are wide by inches for the areas planned for them. The couple is faced with ripping out plumbing and electrical wires to replan the area or getting new 8:00-(2-9) BOB CUMMINGS SHOW- | 9:00-(4-11) THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE equipment. Their satisfaction is complete as their family albums record the youngsters' growth and activities. Once in a while a betterthen-average picture comes along and it may get wider circulation by being entered in a photo contest.

More serious camera fans concentrate their major attention in pictures that will interest strangers as well as themselves. They join camera clubs and participate in club competitions, become salon contributors and form the backbone of the major photo contests.

A good many pictures have aesthetic interest only. They appeal to the eye and mind because of design or pattern of light and shade or color or because they invoke a mood. They have a timeless quality which makes it unimportant whether a scenic composition, for instance, was made last week, last year or ten

However, a good percentage of the pictures now in the 1955 album show how people looked, how they lived and what they did in that year. As such, they are historical documents which will become more properly preserved and filed. In this department the average camera fan fails completely.
